FOR ELECTION BY POPULAR VOTE

Senate Rejects Bill to Change Method of Selecting County Commissioners

"A BREWER BEHIND THE MEASURE"

Senator Dickerman Attributes Bill to Disgruntlement Over Liquor License—Democrats Believe Present System is Wrong—Sufficient Bonds May be Issued to Avert State Tax—Yesterday's Doings at Capitol Hill.

Hartford, Conn., Aug. 22.—The amounts of new business which came into both branches of the legislature today, and the long debate on the matters which were ready for action, indicated to most of the members that adjournment is quite a way off.

To Elect County Commissioners. The senate rejected the bill providing for popular election of county commissioners, which Senator McNeill called up. The senator said that there has been a great deal of dissatisfaction over county affairs and particularly over the selection of commissioners in county meetings. He said that if the people could vote he would be the commissioners of New Haven county could get elected.

Present System Not Right. In Fairfield county, he said, it was wrong that the majority, who are democrats, are unable even to get minority representation on the board. "Why," said the senator, "the representatives from East Lyme and Old Lyme have just as much to say about who shall be commissioners in Fairfield county as the members from that county themselves." If the senator's suggestion is not right to continue this way of choosing commissioners.

Trucking to Liquor Interests. Senator Judson said that he favored minority representation on the board, but he was opposed to electing commissioners by the people. He claimed it would give opportunity for trucking with the liquor interests and would be the most pernicious thing that could ever pass the general assembly. To have that plan would be to bridge over the chasm between the liquor interests and the county commissioners in the large centers of population. He presented the plan, favored by Senator McNeill because it is a test of the democratic faith. He thought the senator from the Eighteenth (Mahan), "who has no regard for party pledges or faith," could not defend the idea.

Mahan's Warm Up. Mr. Mahan, in reply to the effect that he had no regard for party platform, said that there are times when a man's belief in a principle is higher than his belief in a platform. He said that he was not a party man, but he was a democrat. He said that he was not a party man, but he was a democrat. He said that he was not a party man, but he was a democrat.

Spelly for "Home Rule." Senator Spelly said that the matter resolved itself into the eternal question "Shall it be state or local?" He said it was idle to say that the system that compels a senator from the Third (Spelly) to vote for a commissioner for Fairfield is a bad system. He said that he was not a party man, but he was a democrat. He said that he was not a party man, but he was a democrat.

A Brewer Behind the Bill. Senator Dickerman said he had been told that a certain brewer who was disappointed in the liquor license would not give a certain license had said that he intended to force this bill through the assembly. For just this reason the senator was against it.

Avery Votes for Bill. On a roll call those who favored the bill were: Spaul, Marlowe, Lawlor, Mahan, Avery, McNeill, Padock, Donovan, Meigs, Jr., Woodruff, Platt, Peck, Marsden, Park, Woodruff, Platt, Peck, Marsden, Elliott, Barnum, Brinsmade, 12.

The pairs were: Halloran, for, Bailey, against; Shanley, for, Frisbie, against; Foster, for, B. Hammond, against.

Duck Hunting Law Unchanged. On the bill to change the duck hunting season Senator Donovan reported failure to agree with the house and the senate adhering to the law will remain unchanged. The senate had voted to cut 15 days in September and add 15 days in January. The law on hunting has been passed and will remain unchanged.

A Full Crew Bill. The senate rejected its action in rejecting the full crew bill, which earlier had passed the house, in the hope that the house through a committee of conference could induce the senate to send this matter to the public service commission.

Boxing Bill Rejected. The boxing bill rejected by the house came up and Senator Bailey gave a committee on conference. He said the bill was not discussed on its merits in the house, but was rejected because of political quarrels in Waterbury.

Fort Griswold Gift Accepted. The gift of land adjoining the Fort Griswold tract was accepted in concurrence after Senator Mahan had explained the matter to the legislature.

$10,500 for Senators' Salaries. The bill carrying $10,500 to pay the senators their 2300 of "hard earned salary," as Senator Parker expressed it, was passed, as was a bill of expense of $14,400 for expenses of the appropriation committee, of which $500 is for clerical expenses and the balance for traveling expenses of the committee as usual employed an assistant clerk.

Death Damages Bill Today. Senator Park reported that the conference committee on the death damages bill had agreed on a compromise of $10,000 for a death, and retaining the maximum figure of $10,000. This was made the order of the day for tomorrow, together with the state tax matter.

CLOSING SCENES IN HOUSE

Veto of Cotton Bill Received With Republican Cheers and Democratic Laughter—Extra Session 121 Days.

Washington, Aug. 22.—The first session of the Sixty-second congress ended today, and immediately the exodus of members began. President Taft joined with several hundred senators and representatives on their homeward journey, after an extraordinary session that stretched over 121 days and set the liveliest pace of any legislative session in years.

Democracy Laugh Over Veto.

The adjournment was featureless, despite the strenuous activity that had gone before. The president vetoed the cotton tariff revision bill, just as he had vetoed its two revision predecessors, the wool and free list bills. The Democrats, however, were in a mood of laughter and there its reception was marked by democratic laughter and republican applause.

Democracy Embrace Insurgents.

Democratic Leader Underwood, amid a demonstration, formally thanked the few republican members who voted with the democrats to pass the tariff revision bill. The cheering and clapping of the democrats and the republican insurgents was heard in the aisles to shake hands with the republican insurgents. The cheering and clapping of the democrats and the republican insurgents was heard in the aisles to shake hands with the republican insurgents.

Veto Referred to Committee.

As soon as he could be heard, Mr. Underwood announced that, as the democrats did not have the two-thirds majority necessary to pass the bill over the president's veto he would merely move the printing of the veto and accompanying papers and their reference to the ways and means committee.

Atwood Lands At Fort Plain

IS NOW EXACTLY 200 MILES FROM NEW YORK.

A 95 MILE FLY YESTERDAY

Rode Most of Time With Hands in Pockets—"A Lazy Run All the Way," He Says—To Albany Today.

Fort Plain, N. Y., August 22.—Another remarkable spin through the air on his aeroplane flight from St. Louis to New York brought Harry N. Atwood, the fastest flyer in the world, five miles west of Syracuse, to Fort Plain late this afternoon and landed him 95 miles nearer his destination. He is now 1,065 miles from his starting place and exactly 200 miles from his proposed alighting point in New York.

95 Miles Without a Stop.

From Belle Isle, where he ascended at 4:55 p. m., Atwood sailed around Syracuse twelve minutes later, turned the nose of his biplane eastward and skirting over the Indian battle grounds of colonial days in the twilight, descended into the Mohawk valley, alighting first at 7:35 p. m. His actual flying time was two hours and ten minutes and was made without a stop.

Had Hands in Pocket.

"The ride was as calm as a pool," said Atwood. "Most of the time I kept my hands in my pockets or read a timetable."

New York by Thursday.

Atwood hopes to possibly make New York by tomorrow but probably on Thursday, because on account of the rough and wooded country from Albany to New York, the Hudson river he will be compelled to descend in different places or effect landings in the water. From here Atwood has 55 miles to go, which he is capable of making in one flight without a stop.

Got a Late Start.

The ninth day of his flight Atwood finished with a mishap, though he flew most of the way in the twilight and all of it in a dense haze. He flew over 35 towns and cities. It was the latest start he has attempted. Delayed all day by a high wind, he had almost given up his plan to start, when at 4:55 p. m. the wind calmed and he took advantage of it. To avoid the tall buildings he went around the southern outskirts of Syracuse and coming back again to the tracks of the New York Central railroad, took an air line for the east.

Great Reception at Utica.

Utica, 58 miles from the start, which he covered in one hour and 13 minutes, had a demonstration prepared in a hurry. Atwood was met by a band of music and a crowd of people. He was already in sight before his approach and was generally known. Not to disappoint the people, who the day before had waited for several hours to see Atwood, orders were instantly issued to the police to clear the streets. In a minute the town should be sounded. In a minute the town should be sounded. In a minute the town should be sounded.

Almost Dark When He Landed.

It was almost dark when Atwood neared Fort Plain. He hovered while the town glared at him, selecting a clear spot on the opposite bank of the Mohawk river, alighted, to the astonishment of a farmer, a half-dozen angry dogs and a crowd of people. The people who looked from the ground up in amazement at seeing him at a dizzy height would be surprised at the simplicity of his landing. He alighted on a roof and climbed on. He alighted on a roof and climbed on. He alighted on a roof and climbed on.

"A Lazy Run All the Way."

"It's been a lazy run all the way," he said. "Anybody could do it. If experiment in aviation would be confined to straight-ahead sailing, I am sure the problem would be more easily solved. The people who look from the ground up in amazement at seeing him at a dizzy height would be surprised at the simplicity of his landing. He alighted on a roof and climbed on. He alighted on a roof and climbed on. He alighted on a roof and climbed on."

Summary of the ninth day of Atwood's St. Louis-New York flight:

Landed at Belle Isle, five miles west of Syracuse, 4:55 p. m.

Landed at Fort Plain, 95 miles, 7:35 p. m.

Distance traveled on 10th day, 95 miles.

Actual flying time, two hours and ten minutes.

Distance from St. Louis, 1,065 miles.

Total flying time, 23 hours, 35 minutes.

Distance still to go to complete the 1,285 miles trip to New York, 200 miles.

PAPKE BADLY BATTERED BURKE HARDLY MARKED

Cheers Were All for "Sailor"—Thunderbolt Was Disappointing.

New York, August 22.—Sailor Burke of Brooklyn outfought and outboxed Billy Papke of Illinois, who claims the middleweight championship, for ten rounds at the Twentieth Century club tonight. It was a disappointing fight to all those patrons of boxing who expected a different showing from the westerner and the Illinois pugilist with a will which earned for the Brooklynite a hearty round of cheers as he left the ring with scarcely a mark on his body. Both men fought poorly and Papke seemed either unwilling or unable to show any scientific work.
